772,Oops! It seems that, not being able to see, you have fallen down and broken your neck.

862,I can't see a thing.

885,I don't know what that means.

917,Which one?

930,What should I do?

950,What?

958,It is already there.

981,You can't put water in that.

1012,You can't carry so much at once.

1047,The computer holds the chess set under electronic lock.

1105,You can't get the gold out of the ground.

1149,The emerald falls out of your hands.

1188,Don't be funny.

1206,The Password: is fastened tightly to the wall.

1247,You can't touch the Password: with bare hands.

1288,As you touch the figurine, it becomes a giant green monster! You try to fight it off, but fail to prevent it from eating you.

1417,You notice that you have uncovered some money which was hidden under the cube.

1499,The Password: goes down the slot, but the machine does nothing.

1557,The Password: goes down the well.

1585,The Password: goes down the slot. A ball appears inside the machine.

1648,The Password: is not open.

1669,The Password: sinks and is gone.

1696,An electric charge goes through the water.

1741,The sun hits the ice, which immediately vaporizes due to the great heat of the sun.

1828,The Password: quickly dodges your weapon.

1906, The Password: is masically deflected and falls to the floor.

1961, The globe is undamaged.

1987, The weapon misses its target and falls to the floor.

2042, The demon is hit by the Password. He now looks both wounded and enr

2110, The emerald sticks to your hand.

2145, Apparently you were never warned about the dangers of dropping an electrically-charged object into water in which you are standing. It is a good way to get electrocuted, which in fact is what happened here.

2356, The safe has a combination lock; try typing in the combination.

2422, Behind this door you find... a giant green monster!!!
Congratulations, you've just become dinner!

2529, Opening this door reveals a siant green you.

2607, Both doors open at once, forming a hiding place for you. From this point it is difficult to describe exactly what happened, but it sounds like two green monsters ate each other. Anyway, both doors have now disappeared, leaving two exits from the room.

2864, The Password: disappears upon touching the vault.

2908, The door is locked, and you have no key.

2951, The spaceship flies away, leaving you behind.

2999, A spaceship, coming out of nowhere, lands on top of you.

3058, The cart rolls into the box. An ancient statue flies out!

3118, The elevator moves to the other end of the shaft.

3170, A panel on the front of the machine opens to reveal a cannon which blows your head off.

3261, The cheese tastes strange. Evidently it is poisoned.

3316, You are in a small room with downward stairs at the north and south end and upward stairs in the center.

3425, Entrance to Empty Barrel

3452, Spectre's Room

3469, You are in a maze of coal mine tunnels, all alike.

3522, Mine Entrance

3538, A Password: cannot hold water.

3594, There is a loud explosion here, and you are blown to bits.

3655, The water in this same is full of chemical pollutants and unsafe to drink.

3733, There is a loud explosion below you.

3772, You are now wearing the Password:.

3801, Your laser appears to have lost all of its caraes.

3854, A laser-sensitive alarm rings, and a blast from the ceiling stabs down killing you.

3942, A Password: can't shoot itself.

3968, Your Password: disappears as you are about to fire it.

4017, Your Password: 's blast narrowly misses its target.

4062, Your Password: 's blast strikes its target but does no damage.

4118, Oops! It seems that what was in front of you was not another adventure at all, but your own reflection in a mirror. Mirrors tend to reflect all forms of light, from your own image, to a laser beam...

4323, Your green ring is now glowing.

4357, The book tells of an ancient computer chess program. It describes the computer's method of play in great detail, and also tells of a way to beat it. Being a computer myself, I am now capable of beating the program.

4577, 8E-hi-69

4590, The safe of the Gnomes is near--
So is the combination.

4652, Thanks for the nice treasure- it's really nice of you to leave it around so I can pick it up.

Tilt penalty: death

5036, The computer is slightly angry (if such a term applies to a computer) at being beat twice in one day, so it imparts to you a rather large electrical current, frying you instantly.

5219, You don't have a phonograph.

5250, The Password: does not want to play.

5281, A good game, but since my chess-playing skills are not up to the task of defeating another computer, I lose.

5393, A good game. Using the knowledge gained from the book, the computer...
It hands you a silver trophy!

5833,The rat eats the cheese, and dies.

5869,The Password: accepts your Password: and thanks you very kindly.

5920,The Password: greedily accepts your Password: in time to watch it turn green monster! The monster is defeated and forced back into figurine form, but not before doing much damage and leaving its target weakened.

6133,For the Password:.

6146,Click.

6155,Are you sure?

6171,Okay, from now on I will give Password:.

6206,You are on your own feet again.

8130,You are in a room with exits north and up. The room is flooded with water which reaches up to your knees.You can see that the channel of water goes through the spaceport.

8305,You are standing north of a large door.

8347,You are standing on a launch area for spaceships.

8399,You are inside a small building on a strange planet. A door goes out.

8471,You are at the top of a long shaft. A exit is to the south.

8534,You are at the bottom of the shaft. There is another exit to the south.

8608,This room has the shape of a sphere, with holes in all major directions.

8684,You are standing south of the famous gate of the City of Gnome. To the north lies the city, which you cannot see, since it is too small. To the south lies an exit.

8852,You are in an extremely dark room. Clouds of smoke obscure your vision, making flashlights useless. There is a hole going down.

8983,You are standing south of a door, evidently built by dwarves. It seems that you can fit through it if you bend down. A road goes south.

9122,You are on a short passage which goes east to west. To the south is a small door.

9207,You are in a depression with an exit down. Above you can be seen a trace of light, but you cannot see where it comes from.

9334,You are in a small square room with exits NE and SW.

9389,You are in a prison cell. There is nothing, however, to restrain you from using the northern exit, as the door which must have been here looks to have been torn off during a previous jailbreak.

9587,You are in a square room with exits in four directions.

9646,You are at the end of the short passage. There is a well here, covered by a grating (probably to protect hapless adventurers like yourself from falling in).

9807,You are on a path which winds through the forest. The path here goes from south to west.

9899, You are in a dark cave tunnel which goes north to south. It seems to slope downward at the northern end.

10007, Cave Entrance

10023, The path leads north down into the entrance to a cave. It also goes back south.

10106, You are at the Junction of three tunnels which go north-south, east west, and NE-SW.

10195, You are in an east-west tunnel. The walls are covered with deposits of coal and other strange chemicals. There are also stairs going up.

10335, You are standing on a platform observing the entire forest. You can see a small lake in the center of the forest. Nearby is a hole in the ground, and between two exits from a cave, you can see a small building. The forest stretches on for miles and miles. The platform is set into the side of a cliff, making it impossible to climb out of the cave from here. Inside the cave, stairs go down.

10735, You are at the entrance to a coal mine. A mine tunnel extends down far as you can see, which isn't far because of the slight amount of coal gas in the air, reducing visibility. Two other exits go NW and SW.

10950, You are in a room, at the bottom of the mine, where strange deposits of carbide can be seen on the ground. A sloping corridor exits west. Up above you you can see a ledge, and a drain pipe extends down from it, ending about fifteen feet above your head.

11209, You are in a room with smooth metallic walls. A sign says, "ENTRANCE TO SPACEPORT". There is a door west, and some downward stairs at the north end of the room. You can hear the hum of sophisticated machinery in the distance.

11441, You are in a room with a channel of water running down its center. The channel is narrow enough to jump across to the west end of the room, however. The walls of this room are made of a strange substance totally unfamiliar to you. The channel of water extends north and south, and there is a corridor which extends south along the channel.

11788, You are in the west end of the room with the channel of water. There are exits west and northwest.

11890, You are in what must have been the control room for the ancient spaceport. Computers, star maps, radar screens, and other things you don't understand cover the walls. Most of the equipment looks destroyed. There are exits SW and SE.

12128, This room was once the waiting room for passengers on the spaceship according to a sign on the wall. There are exits east and northeast, and a door west with a sign above it, which reads:

"LAUNCH AREA

DO NOT ENTER UNTIL GREEN LIGHT COMES ON"

You find no evidence of any green light.

12424, This was once the observatory for the ancient spaceport. There is a sign on the wall which says "BLORT WAS HERE", but it appears that any use of the observatory would be impossible. The ceiling is solid rock, with no openings. There is an exit east.

12679, You are in a room which follows along a channel of water in the floor. The substances comprising the walls are totally unfamiliar. There are exits NE, SW, and north. The channel bends around through the 12914, You are in a diagonal (NE-SW) passage.

12955, You are at the top of a long, smooth steel ramp. Other exits go NE, east, south, and north. Light can be seen both at the north exit and below, at the end of the ramp.

13127, You are in a room filled with a blinding white light. Strange objects cover the walls. There is an exit east.

13243, You are at the edge of a bog which extends south as far as you can see. To the west you can see the bog merge into a lake. There is an exit northeast.

13398, You are outside of the cave. To your west is a long smooth ramp, of which you are at the bottom, and the forest surrounds you on the other three sides. To the north is barely visible a path.

13583, You are at the entrance to a large horizontal empty barrel.

13655, You are in a large horizontal empty barrel. There is a strong centrifugal force pulling you toward the east exit, away from the west one.

13797, You are at the exit from the empty barrel. A passage goes NE.

13861, You are at the east end of a long cylindrical room. There is a door east. There is also a passage north.

13969, You are in a former recording studio for Gnome Records Ltd. The door exit is south.

14056, You are in the west end of the cylindrical room. There is a hole in the ceiling high above you.

14155, You are in the City of Gnome. The buildings are too small for you to enter. A road continues north and south.

14268, You are in another of the many closets of the City of Gnome.

14331, You are in the Alsaka Room. The temperature here is 40 degrees below zero. There are exits north and south.

14442, You are in a room with exits south and southeast.

14494, This room has exits north and northwest.

14537, You are in a dark, cold room with exits west and northeast.

14599, You are in a room with exits west and down.

14645, high above you.

14667, You are in the City of Gnome. You are in a room made of solid stone with exits north and northwest, and there is a door east.

14797, You are on a passage along the side of a mountain going southeast and south.

14877, This room has exits east and west.

14914, You are walking along a passage which appears to have been constructed recently. The passage goes east and west.

15030, You are on a newly-constructed bridge spanning across a giant chasm.

15129, You are on the north side of the chasm. There are paths east and west.

15202, You are in a small room with exits north and south.

15256, You are in what was once the garbage dump for the ancient cities.

15324, You are in a hall with doors east, west, and south.

15378, You are standing south of a small gate, beyond which lies the famed City of the Dwarfs. There is also a road south.

15497, You are in the City of the Dwarfs. Naturally, you are too large to enter any of the buildings. The road you are on continues north and south.

15643, You are in a room with a low ceiling, filled with a thick yellow mist. The room has exits north and south.

15753, You are at the entrance to a large, beautiful ancient city. A road enters from the north.

15846, You are in the city. There are buildings on all sides. The road you are on goes from north to south. To the northwest you can see a sign that had been torn down recently. The sound of laughter can be heard faintly to the southwest. The hum of machinery is evident on your northeast.

16131, You are in the post office of the ancient city.

16181, You are standing west of a large bank vault. A sign on it says, "Any who try to break into this vault will be removed".

16305, You are at the south end of the city.

16345, You are in a large, well-furnished room. The exit is east.

16406, You are in the drug store of the ancient city. The exit is west.

16473, You are at an exit from the ancient city. A road goes southeast.

16540, You are in the office of the ancient chemist. The room is well-ventilated. There are no doors in this room.

16652, You are walking along a narrow east-west passage. To your south is a large, deep chasm.

16743, You are in a penny arcade. There is only one pinball machine left, however; you can see marks on the ground where the others were recently removed forcibly. There is only one exit, which is to the north.

16951, You are in a very wide room, shaped like an oblate spheroid. There are exits southwest, southeast, and northeast. At the north end of the room, high above you, can be seen a passage, too large for anybody but giants.

17172, You are at the bottom of a hole in the ground. A passage goes SW.

17240, You are in the forest. There is a hole in the ground here.

17301, You are in a thick forest, with trees all around.

17353, You are in a small room, all painted green (obviously by several color-blind dwarfs). There is only one exit, which is west.

17482, You are in a large room, with walls painted a particularly sickening

17672, You are in a room with four walls and no exits.

17722, You are in a corridor which goes east and west. The east end is covered by illusion to appear as a dead end. The entire corridor is extremely dark, and smells of human blood and demon excrement. You hear screams of terror from the west.

17964, You are on the east-west corridor. There are pictures of human skeletons mangled beyond repair, painted along the walls with luminous paint. On the south wall is a small hole.

18146, You are standing in the east-west corridor. On your south is a door which leads into what appears to be a prison cell.

18268, You are at the end of the corridor. Some lettering (probably written in blood) on the west wall is here, although written in a long-forgotten language. The air is very cold here, and the sounds of dying screams seem to be just beyond the walls.

18519, You are at the top of a flight of stairs. There is also an exit north.

18592, You are in a maze of corridors (all alike).

18638, You are in a maze of corridors. There is a thin pole here, extending down through a hole. You might be able to slide down the pole.

18773, You are at the edge of a pit, apparently bottomless. The maze of corridors continues at this level.

18876, You are at the bottom of a huge pit, which extends upward as far as you can see. There are corridors all around, all of which are alike.

19016, You are at the bottom of a flight of stairs, surrounded by a maze of corridors.

19099, You are in a room with exits southwest and northwest.

19155, You are at the east end of a long hallway which branches from a westbound path to two going northeast and northwest. The hallway is lit by a dim glow, source unknown.

19327, You are at the west end of the long hallway. There is a door west of you. The light here is even brighter than in the east end.

19458, You are in a wide room, well lit. On the west end of the room is a passageway, with a sign above it reading "FINISH" in blazing neon light. There is another exit east.

19630, You are in a small room. There are no exits.

As you look around the room, you discover a strange dusty old book lying around on the floor. As you pick up the book, you feel an overwhelming compulsion to read it. As you read it, you learn all of the secrets of the ancient civilizations. When you finish the book, you move onto a higher plane of existence and are never heard of again.

22017, There is a clock on the wall.

22049, There is a burned-out robot floating in the channel.

22104, The north wall of this room is a giant computer.

22155, There is a ventilator shaft set into the wall here, probably used to suck up deadly gases before they can endanger the city. The vent still works after all these years.

22328, A fixture on the ceiling is firing laser blasts at you.

22386, There is a yellow force field at the south end of the room.

22448, There are rare stamps here.

22478, There is a ferocious tiger at the north exit.

22526, There is a sign posted here.

22557, There is a creature of solid stone, hooded, cloaked, and robed, sitting at a desk in the center of the room. It is continually holding and shuffling a deck of cards. From its reaction to you, you can tell that it wants you to play some strange card game with it.
